THE JOURNEY OF FRENCH GLASSWARE

For over 500 years, we've brought glassware collections to life, each one telling its own story, like markers of time rooted in our French heritage. Today we live and share these stories with you, tracing past into present, unravelling the art and the joy of each design. May they inspire each of us as we create new experiences, as we make our own story.

1475

THE ART
OF GLASS-MAKING SINCE 1475

La Rochere has been producing artisanal glass in the heart of France for more than 500 years, making it the oldest continuously running glass factory in Europe. The company is recognized around the world for designing and producing authentic, high quality glassware with French style for today's modern home.

Nestled in the forests of the Lorraine and Franche-Comté region of France, La Rochere produces all of its glassware in-house. Surrounding forests provided natural materials needed to fuse the glass, such as silica sand and soil, along with firewood and ferns to heat the furnaces. Using a custom manufacturing process, La Rochere pieces are created with a two-part open mold, giving them the brand's iconic seam.

The result is superior quality glass, known for its exceptional clarity, brilliance, durability and authentic French style. Updated for today's lifestyles, all La Rochere pressed glass is dishwasher safe.

La Rochere designers and glass artisans collaborate to create fresh designs for daily living and special occasions. Inspired by French cuisine, culture, art and style, each piece evokes both casual comfort and modern elegance. Designers also take inspiration from the company's historic archives, adding classic charm to contemporary patterns and silhouettes. La Rochere has captured a loyal following worldwide with signature collections such as the best-selling Napoleon Bee collection, the beloved Versailles collection, and the distinctive Lyonnais collection.

OUESSANT

The Ouessant collection, with its sober detail and contemporary lines, draws inspiration from the design of the hull of Breton boats, with their meticulously ordered wooden slats. The collection reflects the simplicity and ruggedness associated with the Finistère coastline and islands. Facing the ocean, they know other horizons, but keep their generous roots comfortably warm. Ouessant is an island located in the Atlantic Ocean at the end of Finistère, Brittany.
